* Built-in tutorials: You can access Photoshop's built-in tutorials from the Help menu. Each tutorial walks you step-by-step through a process as you play. You can always start a tutorial with the Command/Ctrl+U hotkey to learn how to accomplish a task. In addition, each tutorial also ends with a Help file that contains a menu of Help commands. To start a built-in tutorial, choose Help⇒Tutorials⇒Show Help⇒(Name of tutorial). You can also access the online version of these tutorials at the ` website. These are great tutorials for beginners. After you start a tutorial, choose Help⇒Help⇒Finish (that's the F key) to return to the Photoshop window. To stop the tutorial, choose the same F key combination or click the red X in the upper-right corner. Figure 2-2 shows a typical completed tutorial window. Figure 2-2: Press F to stop a built-in tutorial. Note: The online version of Photoshop's tutorials doesn't appear to be as well designed as the software's built-in tutorial system. I don't know if this is a big problem or not. * Help files: The Help window, accessed by choosing Help⇒Help, provides a complete menu of commands that can help you do whatever you want to do in Photoshop. However, if your only desire is to figure out what the hotkey for an action is, the Help files are a great resource. You can access many sets of Help files, including the standard Photoshop ones, individual Adobe products, or other software. The online version, at the ` website, is an excellent resource for quickly finding Help files. To access Help files, choose Help⇒Contents or click the Help button on the tool bar and then click Help on the Contents or Help menu. You can also access the Help file for any tool by double-clicking the tool's icon. ## Choosing a Menu-Based, Tool-Specific Help System You also have the ability to access the Help files of the

Giving Wheels A team of 90 volunteers and staff from the Tampa Community Foundation (TCF) spent last month piecing together over 700 custom wheelchair-designed frames in support of next year's Tampa Bay Wheelchair Games. Their efforts mark the second time the Games, co-sponsored by TCF and the Tampa Bay Sports Commission, has engaged in custom fabrication of frames in advance of the competition. "The TCF volunteer frame builders spent a total of 10 days on the project," said Scott Strouse, TCF executive director. "It is only fitting that this is the second year we have been able to continue the tradition of the custom frames. We know many participants have and will again wear their frames proudly." "It is such a special feeling to see the smiles on the faces of our members who have been given the gift of a new custom-designed wheelchair frame," said Stephanie Cook, president of the Tampa Bay Sports Commission. "Once again we are proud to partner with TCF on this project." The frame fabrication process began last month, with frames and extensive documentation mailed to the program's frame building team in Atlanta. For the 10 days between framing and completion of the Games, the volunteers worked to prepare the frames. Upon delivery to TCF, the frames are assembled and documented. The frames are then attached to the participants' wheelchairs for the Games. While not all frames were delivered in time to be worn at the Games, the members of the frame building team had a great time building these custom frames. Sarra Pelton, a member of the frame building team, said, "We enjoyed this experience. We got to meet so many people from all over the world, and are learning so much about the sport of wheelchair racing." The Tampa Bay Wheelchair Games will be held Saturday, October 29, 2012, and Sunday, October 30, 2012, at the Tampa Bay Sports Commission, 1000 Channelside Drive. Registration begins at 9 a.m. on October 29. If you are interested in becoming a volunteer frame builder for the next year's events, please contact Sarra Pelton at 941-630-2937.5 Stars is a guest post from Amber. What's New in the Adobe Photoshop CS3?

Role of free fatty acids in light-induced chloroplast ultrastructure modifications in Pisum sativum L. cv. Himalaya. Pulse-chase experiments were conducted to determine the role of free fatty acids in light-induced chloroplast ultrastructure modifications in pea leaves. Light-induced ultrastructural changes in chloroplasts, such as the appearance of thylakoid dense areas (DAs), the presence of "gaps" in the inner envelope membrane (IEM) and a loss of thylakoid granulation were found to be inhibited in n-butanol-extracted leaves of pea. These changes were also prevented in n-butanol-extracted leaves of pea treated with photosystem I inhibitors. However, the changes were not reversed in such leaves, when the n-butanol extraction was prolonged and higher concentrations of n-butanol were applied. These results suggest that free fatty acids (especially unsaturated fatty acids) play an important role in the process of light-induced chloroplast ultrastructure modification.SuperSkills4Kids ABOUT US SuperSkills4Kids was founded by Natan Ofer, JD, CFA. Natan is a man of faith and a qualified lawyer with a master's degree in business administration. Natan is passionate about the arts, he leads a state-of-the-art program of sound technology and ballet. Natan feels strongly about the need for children to be creatively and artistically stimulated. He finds that because parents don't have the time to focus on their children's development, sometimes it's the children who have to take the initiative. Music and art are great methods to help children to bring out their creativity, and Natan started to think about how he could do his part to help bring these formative experiences to children. He created SuperSkills4Kids, a program for children and adults to participate in creative activities and learn new skills, such as painting, drawing and crafts. SuperSkills4Kids engages partners in all disciplines, including a large roster of teachers, artists, performers and scientists, to enrich children's lives with a unique, creative and fun learning experience. Natan is a Jew and believes in the teachings of the Torah, and he has a wide network of inspirational people he mentors and mentees. He looks to these mentors to provide

System Requirements For Adobe Photoshop CS3:

A USB keyboard, mouse, and HD webcam is required to participate in the game. (No mouse is required for the 3D version) If you have a very old computer that has very little RAM, this game might run out of memory during gameplay. If you have such a computer, you should upgrade it. At the time of this game's development, many of the internet users in South Korea had trouble participating in the game. If you don't have access to the internet, you can still participate by contacting us on our Skype account.
